

Taro Takahashi

Ewing Lamont Research Professor
Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory

A Very Special Celebration

Friday, March 18, 2011

Monell Auditorium, Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory

3:00 p.m. Welcome

Art Lerner-Lam, Interim Director

Lamont Research Professor, Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory

3:10 p.m. Introductory Remarks

William M. Smethie, Jr.

Lamont Research Professor, Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory

3:15 p.m. The Other CO₂ Icon

Robert F. Anderson

Ewing Lamont Research Professor, Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory

3:30 p.m. Taro Takahashi: Kamikaze Pilot, Prisoner of the Vema, Dean of Ocean CO₂
Wally Broecker

Newberry Professor of the Earth and Environmental Sciences, Columbia University

Reception to follow

Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory
COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY | EARTH INSTITUTE

arO Takahna s

A Very Special Celebration

Friday, March 18, 2011

Monell Auditorium, Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory

A large, light-colored number '80' is centered in the background of the slide. The '8' is composed of two stacked ovals, and the '0' is a single large oval.

Taro Takahashi

Ewing Lamont Research Professor
Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory

A large, light-colored number '80' is centered in the background of the slide. The '8' is composed of two stacked ovals, and the '0' is a single large oval.

Taro Takahashi

Ewing Lamont Research Professor
Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory

A large, light-colored number '80' is centered in the background of the slide. The '8' is composed of two overlapping ovals, and the '0' is a single large oval.

Taro Takahashi

Ewing Lamont Research Professor
Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory

A large, light-colored number '80' is centered in the background of the slide. The '8' is composed of two stacked ovals, and the '0' is a single large oval.

Taro Takahashi

Ewing Lamont Research Professor
Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory

A large, light-colored number '80' is centered in the background of the slide. The '8' is composed of two stacked ovals, and the '0' is a single large oval.

Taro Takahashi

Ewing Lamont Research Professor
Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory